In addition to some music by Stephen Foster, their repertoire featured music by black composers such as James Bland, a popular singer-banjoist who wrote some 700 songs, including "Carry Me Back to Old Virginny." In general, these minstrel shows were the only theatrical medium in which gifted black performers of the period could support themselves.

minstrel show | Description, History, & Facts | Britannica

The minstrel show, or minstrelsy, was an American form of entertainment developed in the early 19th century. Each show consisted of comic skits, variety acts, dancing, and music performances that depicted people specifically of African descent. The shows were performed by mostly white people in make-up or blackface for the purpose of playing the role of black people.
