City of New York / New York. One of the greatest liners of the nineteenth century, City of New York was a remarkable ship in many ways. She was the first ship (except Great Eastern) ever to exceed 10,000 tons. She was the first twin-screw steamer built for regular express service on the North Atlantic. And she was a Blue Ribband winner, setting an eastbound crossing record after she had been in service for more than nine years.
